With Kronotex laminate flooring technology in your corner, your home improvement project gets a quality boost. This brand has made quite a name for itself in the industry. This is both due to its wide range of shades and designs, and the unique Clic-2-Clic joint system. You can transform a room in as little as a day.

This brand stands up well to other industry leaders, such as Pergo Flooring and Armstrong Flooring. The glueless click-together designs make for a gratifyingly fast-paced installation process.

How Is Kronotex Laminate Flooring Manufactured And Maintained?

The upper layer of the flooring consists of a melamine impregnated paper that is thermo-fused to the middle layer. This outer layer is covered with a protective, hard-wearing aluminum oxide film that is impact, moisture, fade, stain and abrasion resistant. The middle or core layer is a high density fiber board. A non-toxic hydrophobic substance is used to seal the plank edges for maximum moisture resistance. The flooring is installed over existing subfloors, except in the case of carpeting or real wood on concrete.

The thickness of the each type of plank varies between 6mm and 12mm. The thicker planks are more suitable for use in high traffic areas. Kronotex ensures an authentic, natural look by repeating patterns only every 20 planks. The flooring range comes with at least an AC3 rating, which makes it extremely durable in residential areas. The thicker lines come with an AC5 rating, making them ideal for light commercial settings.

The tongue and groove flooring planks simply snap together to form a floating floor. On stairs glue is used, without an underlayment underneath the planks. Color coordinated, decorative moldings are available to complement your choice of flooring. The flooring can be installed in bathrooms and kitchens, although great care needs to be taken when it comes to sealing joints and expansion spaces. Glue is used on the joints in this instance, and a caulking gun can be utilized for the spaces around the perimeter of the bathroom or kitchen.

Warranty periods vary between 5 years for commercial use and a reassuring 25 year residential coverage.

Laminates usually ensure a low-maintenance floor. Little more than a broom and a slightly damp (never wet) mop is needed for cleaning. Dedicated laminate flooring cleaning agents can be used. Just make sure that you always double check with your supplier before using a cleaner. The wrong choice may void your warranty. Waxes or polishes should never be used. These will leave a dull film and may damage the wear layer. Minor scratches can usually be taken care of with a repair paste.

Simply sweep the floor to remove dust. Wipe with a damp cloth where there are spots. Work in the direction of the grain. Kronotex cleaner can be used for tough marks. Use area rugs in doorways to collect dust and grit that may scratch your floor. Felt pads under furniture feet will also help to maintain the good looks of your floor covering.
